Nasp memo: unless we assume that by a fluke the Harbor Police got a handbill that had no address, we cannot assume there is no significance because it is very unlikely that Oswald did not use a return address.